APRIL 2018

Be Sure to Mark Your Calendar for Sunday, May 6 at 2 pm

Lori Helkowski, a teacher at the Snyder-Girotti School in Bristol, contacted the history office in the Grundy Library for suggestions of people who were important in the history of Bristol but were deceased. The library history office supplied 39 names. From those names, Mrs. Helkowski and the children from the Gifted/Enrichment classes grades 1-6 selected people to make a "Living Wax Museum". It was presented on Historic Bristol Day 2017. Many people missed it but hoped that it could be presented again. BCHF answered the request and has scheduled the program for Sunday, May 6, 2018 at our headquarters on Cedar Street at 2 pm.

Students will be dressed in the character they are playing and it will be a first-person short biography of the Bristol people of the past. The program is free and light refreshment will be served.

If anyone wishes to make a donation to the Snyder-Girotti Schools' Gifted/Enrichment Program, the school will be happy to accept that donation and it can be given at BCHF to Mrs. Helkowski. We hope that you will support the children. This is the first time we have had children from our Snyder-Girotti school present a program at BCHF

President's Corner

BCHF is showered with many activities this April. First is a program presented by our own local historians, James and Deborah Fine, about Bristol during World War I. How fortunate we are to have such well informed members of our community willing to share their knowledge and resources with us. Those of you who went on the house tour this past Bristol Day may have seen the exhibit of WWI memorabilia at the Fine House. Thank you to the Fines for their presentation.

April also brings us a bus trip to Philadelphia featuring the Museum of American Revolution and a delicious lunch at the JNA Institute of Culinary Arts. Thank you to Helen Younglove for planning the trip and to Ellana

Delaney for organizing the reservations.

Then, last but not least, April brings us our annual spring tea. This year the tea is featuring music by guitarist Robert Konyves. Robert has been featured at other events in town including Calm Waters and The Center For the Arts. A special thank you to our Ways and Means member, Kathy Barniskis, for heading this event. Also thanks to her committee for all the work they do to make the event so enjoyable. As I said, April brings showers and BCHF showers you with many enjoyable activities. The dedicated members of the Ways and Means committee plan all of these events well in advance. Keep checking for future events in our Gazette and on our website.

Thanks to One of Our Readers

Thanks to Sam Black, a member of BCHF who had lived in Bristol and was graduated from Bristol High School and now resides with his wife in Kentucky. Sam was reading the March Gazette in the article "Life in Bristol during World War I" concerning banking. The article talked about the TRUST Company Bank which started in 1911 and then went directly to the BB&T Bank at the corner of Radcliffe and Market Streets. What happened was the Trust Company building was demolished. While this was being done, the Trust Company temporarily relocated across Radcliffe Street in the building that now houses Annabella's Restaurant. When the new building was complete, it opened as the Delaware Valley Trust Company. It then became known as the PNB (Philadelphia National Bank). That banking institution closed and people had to find another place for banking. Some people went to the Wachovia Bank (now Wells Fargo bank). After a year, the former PNB bank opened under a new name and eventually became the BB&T Bank at the corner of Radcliffe and Market Streets. It is the red brick bank.

Land Development in the Bristol Area (continued from Gazette article - March, 2018)

February 1942 - Bristol Terrace I and Terrace II were developed by the Federal Government to relieve the housing shortage especially needed by military workers in the Bristol plants and at Fort Dix, NJ. The contractors, Stofflet and Tillotson of Phila., are building on the east side of Beaver Dam Road. There will be two entrances from Beaver Street. The 45 acre plot is the former Stackhouse farm on Beaver Dam Road. Terrace I has the larger homes - 131 housing units; one-third of the houses will be double dwellings. There will be no cellars, but a space is between the floor of the houses and the ground. They will have asphalt shingle roofs, a living room, kitchen, utility and storage room, bathroom, bedrooms (variations of 1, 2 or 3). There will be macadam streets and concrete sidewalks. The project is to be completed in 135 working days to house defense workers. Borough water and sewer have recently been extended. Terrace II has 360 one-story row-houses named alphabetically - Court A, Court B, Court C, etc. (Several organizations were formed to promote community activities, a child health center, baseball and football teams, women's clubs and scouts.) In April, 1942, a suggestion was made to the Bristol Courier by Paul J. Barrett, Esq. to call the area "Bristol Terrace." It was said that the people of Bristol for many years called that section "Bristol Terrace." Other names suggested were "Bristol Heights" and "Beaver Heights."

Note: In 1964 residents of Terrace I requested its name be changed to "Green Lawn Park." Terrace II was sold to a Michigan Company (Bristol-Bloomfield, Inc.). Over the years living conditions deteriorated and the Bucks Co. Housing Authority took over Terrace II, then called "Kingswood Park." Tenants were protesting for better conditions. In 1976, the Venice-Ashby townhouses were built. In 1984 a second phase called Venice-Ashby II was opened and the dilapidated Kingswood housing was razed.

February, 1942 - Twenty houses will be erected in the Sixth Ward on Benson Place by Robert C. Crowell. The houses of five rooms will be constructed of Asbestos siding with Asbestos roofs. All will have complete basements, heated with gas or oil and will sell for less than $4500. The plans are to begin work on three pairs of twin dwellings. After the first group of six have been completed and sold, the balance of the project will be underway.

July, 1943 - In the area of Second, Third and Fourth Avenues, three hundred housing units are underway. They are Philadelphia-type row houses of brick construction. Having begun in March of 1942, sixty houses are already built. Each house has 6 rooms with bath. Bristol Development Co. with James Stewart of Montgomery Co. is the builder.

March, 1944 - Fleetwing Estates provided attractive modern homes in a permanent residential community in Bristol Township just across Bloomsdale Road (Green Lane) from Plant #2 (Fleetwings). The development was built on Larzeler's farm and was designed to fulfill a wartime need for housing near the factory. It was laid out in a loop design with no dead ends and a recreation park for the children. The homes were purchased on the F.H.A. - 25 year plan with a down payment of $590. A few of the homes were available for rent at $47 a month. The 100 single family homes were of ten different designs all of which included such features as a "picture window" which extended almost the entire length of the living room and a compact U-shaped kitchen. The basement ran the ful length and width of the house. For most workers, it was just a short walk to the plant.

January, 1950 - Paper Mill Village, owned by the Patterson-Parchment Co, is giving employee occupants the first opportunity to buy their homes. The seventeen houses range in value from $4900 to $8200. They are all frame construction with modern conveniences. Some houses are single homes; others are duplex. The houses were built about 1922 and rents have never been changed. Because the rents were very low, the firm has decided to sell the properties.

January, 1950 - A group of homes will be erected along Green Lane in Bristol Township on a 28 acre tract (west side of Green Lane, north of Route #13). The land formerly belonged to the Stackhouse estate. The houses are one story, asbestos shingles, siding and fire-proof insulation, hot water heater, concealed radiators, hardwood floors. A 500 gallon fuel oil tank will be located in the ground outside of each building. The price of the houses will be from $9500 to $11000. Frank Spezzano will build each house as the property is sold. It is expected that the tract will have 175 houses.

February, 1950 - the Penn Valley Construction Co., Inc. plans to build approximately 200 homes near Bristol. The company plans to develop a complete community and turn it over to local authority intact ready for administration.

June, 1950 - At Laurel Bend (along Bath Road), a tract of land is being developed into 131 lots by the J.F. Bucttner and Edward Praul Co. of Emilie. They will be Gunneson Homes, a subsidiary of U.S. Steel Corp. This type of home is a basic structure and the purchaser can have additions. The "basics" include a streamlined kitchen, ample cabinets, utility room, linen closet, two bedrooms, forced air heat (oil or gas), a choice of 6 pastel shades, a modern built-in bathtub and landscaping. The basic house does not have a basement and the price does not include a garage, but both are available at an additional cost.

February, 1951 - - Twenty-two housing units on Green Lane, the former farm of Harry Larzeler, are being built by Sycamore Gardens, Inc. of Pottstown. On about 9 acres of farmland, the buildings are to be apartment-type with on-site parking, play areas and a central heating plant. There will be 4 one-bedroom units, 12 two bedroom units and 6 three bedroom units. The housing project on Green Lane between Fleetwing Estates and Beaver Dam Road will be known as Sycamore Gardens. The cinder block walls will separate the units for fire and sound control. They expect to be rented for $55 to $65 a month.

March, 1951 - Three hundred houses on two tracts of land fronting on Bath Road are to be built. The Hunter tract and the Louis Bellini tract will be used, the development will be called "Margo Gardens." The first development of 116 houses will be one story, brick construction and ranch-type in design. There will be fully-paved streets with services of gas heat, electricity and Bristol Borough water. The kitchens include colored wood cabinets, dinette and a large living room, three bedrooms, tile bathroom and a large utility room. The casement windows will include screens. The builder is Margo Homes, Inc. of Philadelphia.

Early 1950's - With the building of the Fairless Steel Corporation, the need for housing overwhelmed the demand for farms. Housing developments at Fairless Hills and Levittown were built. Levittown was built as a mass-produced, suburban development. Levitt & Sons eventually built some 17,000 houses in parts of Bristol Township as well as Tullytown, Middletown and Falls Townships. With the building LEVITTOWN was divided into forty neighborhoods. It is spread over four municipalities. The different sections use 24 letters (all except "x" and "Z" with one or two sections for each of the letters.
